OVERVIEW

This CME activity offers a focused, interdisciplinary look at the rapidly evolving intersections of medical artificial intelligence, healthcare law, and interstate nursing practice. Participants will explore foundational and emerging AI technologies, their clinical and administrative applications, and the benefits and risks associated with integrating AI into patient care. The program also reviews recent developments in Ohio medical malpractice law, strategies for managing liability, and best practices for safe, ethical AI adoption. Additional discussions include a demonstration of AI-enabled tools in the electronic medical record and an overview of the Nurse Licensure Compact highlighting its key provisions. This event equips legal and healthcare professionals with the essential knowledge needed to navigate the future of technology-enabled, legally sound, and collaborative healthcare delivery.

AUDIENCE

This activity is intended for legal and healthcare professionals, including physicians, residents, advanced practice providers, PAs, NPs, psychologists, nurses, and students.

Fee: $38.00 Nurses and Allied Health Professionals
$54.00 Advanced Practice Providers
