OVERVIEW

This conference provides a comprehensive update on advanced obstetric ultrasound and prenatal diagnosis, with a strong focus on fetal cardiac screening, skeletal abnormalities, placental disorders and fetal chest masses. Participants will learn up-to-date imaging techniques, diagnostic strategies, and clinical management approaches through subject matter expert lectures and interactive case discussions. The agenda also includes live scanning sessions, allowing attendees to strengthen real-time ultrasound skills such as image capturing and will help to improve confidence in evaluating both routine and high-risk pregnancies. This course is designed for healthcare professionals who perform or support obstetric ultrasound examinations in radiology departments, OB offices and similar clinical settings.

AUDIENCE

This activity is intended for sonographers, nurses, advanced practice providers, physicians and other allied health professionals involved in obstetric ultrasound imaging.

Fee: $ 94 Sonographers, nurses, techs and allied health professionals
